The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the cultural context of the research. It highlights the need for researchers to be sensitive to the values and beliefs of the communities they are studying. This is particularly important in the field of health research, where cultural differences can significantly impact the effectiveness of interventions.

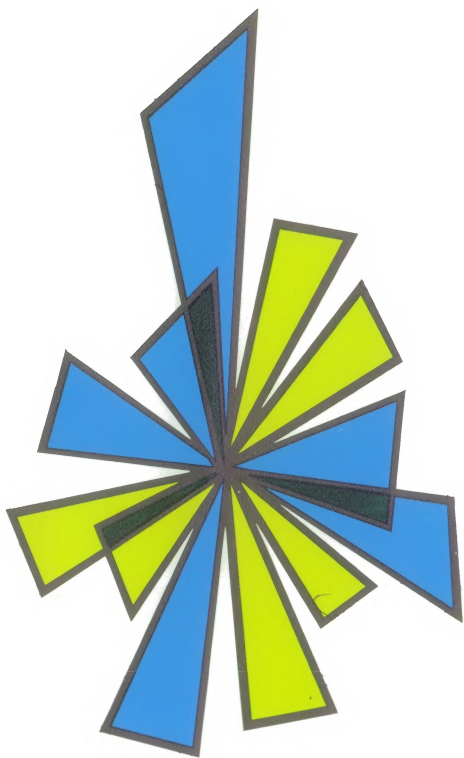

The second part of the paper presents a review of the literature on cultural competence in healthcare. It examines the various models and frameworks that have been developed to guide healthcare providers in delivering culturally appropriate care. The review also identifies the challenges and barriers to achieving cultural competence in practice.

The third part of the paper describes the methodology used in the study. It details the selection of participants, the data collection methods, and the analysis techniques. The study was conducted in a community-based setting, and the participants were recruited through a snowball sampling method.

The fourth part of the paper presents the findings of the study. It discusses the themes that emerged from the data and the implications for practice. The findings suggest that there is a need for more culturally sensitive healthcare services and that healthcare providers should receive training in cultural competence.

The fifth part of the paper discusses the limitations of the study and suggests areas for future research. It acknowledges the potential biases of the study and the need for further exploration of the cultural context of the research.

The final part of the paper provides a conclusion and a summary of the key findings. It emphasizes the importance of cultural competence in healthcare and the need for ongoing research and education in this area.

Young scientists utilize new facilities in the biology lab.

contribute to growth and expansion of Clark

Stimulating educational development provided the motive for continued improvement at George Rogers Clark High School. Visible changes were seen in the addition of two portable classrooms, a new biology lab, reupholstered auditorium seats, and framed paintings in the upper halls. New clubs and courses, changes in the administration and faculty, and an evaluation by the North Central Association, all contributed to the growth of Clark.

The victory bell is rushed to acclaim our team's first success.

Two portable classrooms were added to accomodate extra students.

Clark students get to know each other, both coming and going.

As the school developed and offered better educational opportunities, so the individual matured and contributed to society. This year his mind was further enriched by new educational methods. Through participation in activities and association with people, he broadened his viewpoint. In competition he learned to accept victory and defeat in a sportman-like manner. Working with the community, he attempted to take his place in the adult world.

Throughout 1968, changes—both physical and intellectual—appeared. Discreet observation detected a Switch From Routine.

A sense of victory and a hypnotizing chant create the ties between—classmate to classmate and class to class.

Circus engenders excitement at Homecoming

The giant ringmaster, the Homecoming display, welcomes alumni.

A fifteen-foot ringmaster, an ineffable fat lady, and a merry-go-round of Pom-Pon girls were only a part of Homecoming. "The Big Top" lent itself to varied floats and a hilarious Senior skit. Winning the yell contest for the second consecutive year was the vociferous class of '69. The efforts of the Sophomore class and German Club captured first place ribbons for their respective floats. The annual parade was highlighted by Homecoming Queen Laurie Picklin and her court.

Summer studies beckon aspiring talents

S. Fuchs, D. Geffert, D. Howell, T. Marciniak, and R. Greskovich perfected dance routines at a Pom-pom Institute at I.S.U.

L. Burch, B. Ruf, S. Hurley represented Clark at Boys' State.

T. Nowak and B. Steffel were instructed on yearbook assemblage.

J. Snider and M. Gaspar developed journalistic talents at Ball State.

As mayor of her city, J. Snider was active in the youth government at Girls' State.

S. Kaplan and S. Winner enriched their musical knowledge at Music Clinic.

to seek new horizons

To expand their knowledge, several Clark students attended summer learning programs.

Indiana University became the second home for many Clarkites. Boys' and Girls' Staters participated in a mock democracy, while new ideas were the product of the Student Council Leadership Workshop. Music Clinics and Yearbook Workshops helped students cultivate talents. AVO boys studied technical innovations.

Pom-pom girls worked diligently at the I.S.U. Workshop and cheerleaders realized their responsibilities at the Smith-Walbridge Cheering Camp. Science enthusiasts quenched their thirst for knowledge at Purdue and Iowa Universities. Journalists toiled at the Ball State Newspaper Workshop. Y-Teenagers were inspired at a World Fellowship Conference. The World Boy Scout Jamboree offered American boys, including one Clarkite, the opportunity of meeting their foreign peers.

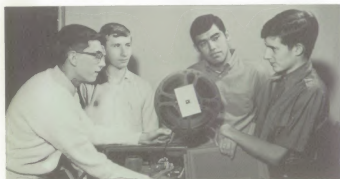

L. Emery, L. Walker, N. Laurineck, B. Tokarz, and J. Jackim promoted fellowship at the Y-Teens' Summer Camp.

E. Tangalos, J. Banik, R. Fritz labored in science research.

J. Francis, R. Murzyn, S. Toth, and S. Hurley attended the Leadership Institute.

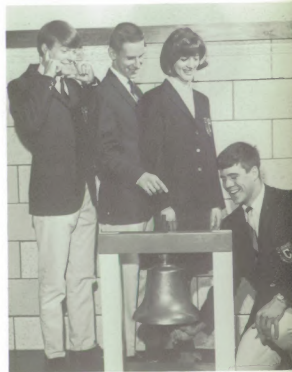

J. Pavlovich, D. Hauck, J. Martinez, B. Olds mastered AVO skills.

L. Picklin, L. Spanier abounded in spirit after their stay at Cheering Camp.

As a host, Explorer S. Hurley gained a wide scope at the World Boy Scout Jamboree.

Clarkites conform to

This year Clarkites were "chained" to fashion. Chains enhanced everything, from loafers to belts, and even graced the shoulders of some jumpers.

Legalized culottes made an overnight hit, while knee socks made way for over-the-knee socks. Pin striped, button-down collar shirts were "in" for male and female, as were wide watchbands.

Levis and loafers continued as the first choice of the guys. After school the well-dressed student chose cutoffs and his beloved Clark jersey.

Daisies sprouted from every lapel in conjunction with the Student Council "Love-In" Week. Special days were set aside for the wearing of bermudas and jerseys in an effort to build enthusiasm and spirit.

Post-game dances provide a place to expend pent up feelings.

Pete beats the heat on first Bermuda Day.

M. Dzurovick bursts into Flower Day with a cluster of daisies.

fashion rages; Bermuda and Jersey Days ecstatic

Attired in their favorite ensembles, Clarkites keep in fashion.

Homecoming spirit abounds as Clarkites, Ron Murzyn and Ruth Greskovich proudly don jerseys on Jersey Day.

World horizons awake ideals of five Clarkites

Linguistics initiated an increase in the fluency for three Clarkites during the summer. Prudy Davis, Doug Guy, and Terri Johnson were selected for the I.U. Honors Program and traveled to Germany and Mexico respectively, where they adapted to a new way of life.

With an opportunity to visit Europe, George Yearsich and Chris Foreman toured the continent and observed different cultures.

Participating in the I.U. Honors Program, D. Guy and P. Davis lived and learned in Germany.

T. Johnson, Spanish honor student, adjusted to Mexican customs.

Viewing the Bradenburg Gate, C. Foreman saw East Berlin.

The majestic Alps captivated G. Yearsich as he toured Austria.

The Prom is triumphantly concluded with the Grand March.

Dreams drift, while moonlight showers Inn

Seniors appreciate the efforts of class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Huber, who made the 1967 Prom a successful endeavor.

Emotions mounted to a pinnacle as couples entered a world filled with "Moonlight and Roses" at the Dorchester Inn on May 27, 1967.

The sound effects of Wes Harrison followed dinner. Couples then descended onto the dance floor as Ronnie Rogers and his Orchestra further enhanced the evening.

The Grand March began the final display of formal raiment and ushered the dream world to an end.

A small ring and tie clasp, a pink program, a pressed flower; all tokens of friendship, are now remembrances of the 1967 Junior-Senior Prom.

J. Banik, Junior Class President and date radiate happiness.

A cigarette brings terror to the Arthurian Court.

Flourish of trumpets heralds

For two evenings King Arthur and his Court reigned supreme on the stage of the Clark Auditorium. On Friday, May 5, the curtain opened for the 1967 all-school play, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court."

The plot involved Hank Bennett, a 20th century genius, who had been thrust into the age of King Arthur. After surviving several conflicts, the modernization of the Court, and a plot to overthrow the king, Hank finally managed to return to the 20th century.

Before the romantic flavor of the Round Table passed again into history, the cast completed another successful addition to the Clark theatre tradition.

Boos, hisses, peanuts and vaudeville

Clark's first melodrama was presented by the Junior class under the direction of Miss Carol Kramsky. Pure as the Driven Snow; or A Working Girl's Secret offered an evening of enjoyment to the audience. Peanut sellers and ushers dressed in straw hats and striped vests, vaudeville acts between the scenes, and an occasional boo or hiss from the audience added to the atmosphere.

As the curtain opened, Purity Dean, the innocent heroine, was pursued by the black-hearted villain, Mortimer Frothingham. She accepted a job at the inn of Jonathan Logan and his wife, Zamah. Here Purity and the hero, Leander Longfellow, met and fell in love. Mortimer arrived on the scene, and with the services of ex-convict Jed Lunn, he began to make trouble. But the virtues of Purity surmounted the evilness possessed by Mortimer. The curtain closed as cheers for the hero and heroine rose from the audience.

Between acts L. Weiner asks N. King, "Where would you be without me?"

Nellie, the beautiful cloak model, arrives in time to show Mortimer Frothingham in his true colors.

Assemblies create diversion in daily routine

Through the efforts of Mr. Erickson and the Student Council, Clark students were presented with an interesting and varied assembly program.

Clarkites were visited by Dr. Roland Myers speaking on linguistics, Mr. Bumiller and his travelogues, and Senator Birch Bayh. Three assemblies displayed students' talents, those being the Latin Club Talent show, the Thespians' skit, and the clothing classes' fashion show. The choral department, band and orchestra presented various concerts while Clarkites were also entertained by The Hartford Convention, The Renaissance and The Brass of '68.

Thespian Jack Pavlovich ponders the question of flying saucers.

North Central evaluator cites the association's purpose.

Singing the tune Mickey Mouse, the "President's Cabinet" answers "Why Viet Nam?" with "because we like you!"

The Forum Club Mexico trip offered interested Clarkites the opportunity to observe village market activity south of the border.

Landmarks of Washington, New York,

Vacation time not only meant a break from school, but for many Clarkites it also meant travel.

Students who journeyed to Washington, D.C. and New York spent six days viewing the sights of the nation's capital and the largest city in the U.S. The White House, United Nations building, Statue of Liberty and Empire State building are only a few of the landmarks which the students visited.

Going south of the border, Clarkites traveled to Mexico. Many students enjoyed the first experience of air travel as their jet took off from Chicago. Upon arrival, they immediately felt the difference of the hot, dry climate. During their eight day stay, Clark's travelers viewed many sights, some being the Spanish dancers, Mexican pyramids, and the University of Mexico.

Clarkites made new friends while discovering Mexican culture.

Caps and gowns symbolize past and future

Graduation was the crowning touch for the Class of 1968. It meant the end of four years of hard work and rollicking fun.

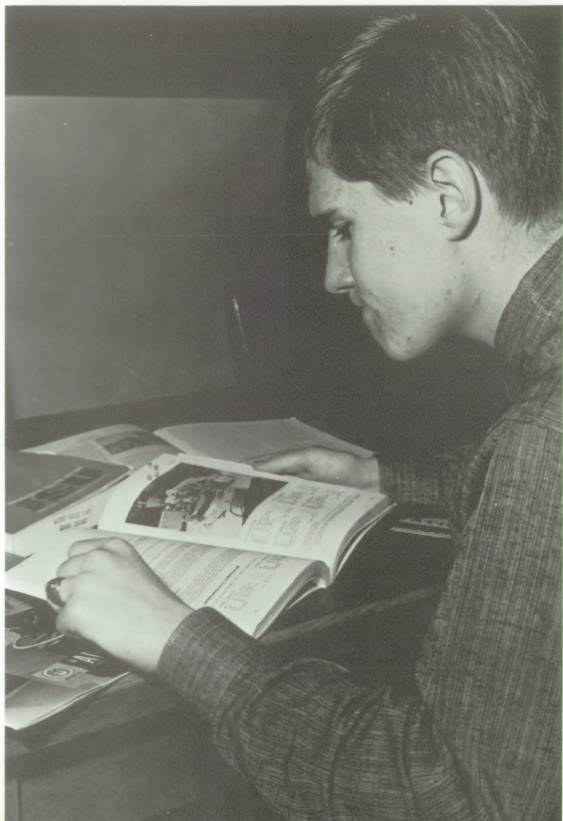

Earlier in the year tension mounted as the SAT and Achievement Tests neared and the final class ranks were announced.

At the Senior Banquet, Seniors recalled four years of memories and were faced with their predicted futures.

Academics

Individuality and self-expression emerged as he gained new insights in the classroom.

A culmination of four years' devoted

From Freshmen to Seniors the Class of '68 excelled in the academic field. Aspirations and study habits formed during the first three years of high school life opened a world of opportunity. Students saw a chance to learn, took advantage of the situations, and pointed their efforts in that direction.

Now, in their final year, ten of these students have gained recognition. Valedictorian Eric Tangelos and Salutatorian Reinhard Fritz, along with eight other Seniors, were distinguished for continuous excellence.

Sandra Toth, recipient of the DAR Award, and Reinhard Fritz, Eric Tangelos, and George Yearsich, National Merit Finalists, won acclaim for their accomplishments. The Junior Rotarians, chosen for school performance, represented Clark at luncheons with area businessmen.

Valedictorian Eric Tangelos acquired a perfect 4.0 grade average.

Sandy Toth was the 1968 recipient of the DAR citizenship award.

NATIONAL MERIT FINALISTS—G. Yearsich, R. Fritz, E. Tangalos.

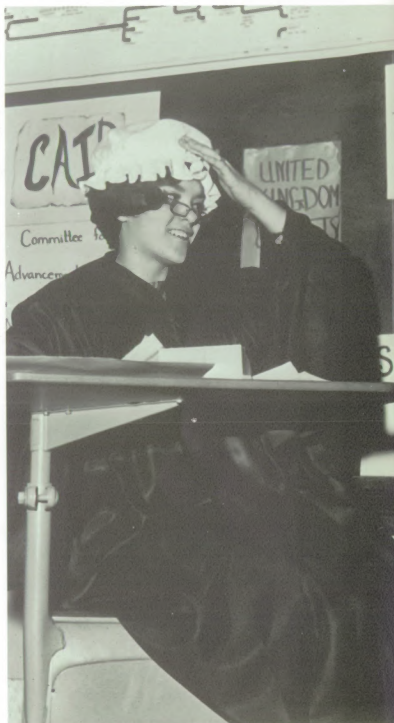

Salutatorian Reinhard Fritz achieved the second highest grade average.

English classes unearth excitement

The literature classes traveled over the world geographically and chronologically. In the world literature class the students trotted from Greece in the time of Sophocles around the globe to modern Spain. The Seniors confined their travels to England. They began with Beowulf in the Anglo-Saxon period, sauntered through the Elizabethan period with Hamlet, and wound up with the modern authors. The Juniors remained in America with Moby Dick and the works of Mark Twain. The Sophomores jumped from Julius Caesar in Rome to A Tale of Two Cities in London and Paris, while Freshmen covered medieval England with Ivanhoe and later-day France with Les Miserables. Stops were peppered with grammar, logic, short stories, and essays.

Speech and debate classes traveled over the world, but confined themselves to modern problems and society.

J. Jackin demonstrates the production of a paper in her speech.

"Jane Austen" brings 18th century England to Senior lit students.

and adventure in the world of books

English students make projects to better understand Shakespeare.

"Robinson Crusoe" recalls his shipwreck in a Senior English class.

Concentrating on upping his speed, Rocky reads a short story.

The talent show offered German students the opportunity to present William Tell by the German poet Schiller.

Students gain awareness through the Portrayal of ancient myths provides the theme for Latin projects.

Whether one plans to become a teacher, a scientist, an artist, or just a normal citizen, knowledge of a foreign language and its people is a favorable advantage in education and awareness of the surrounding world.

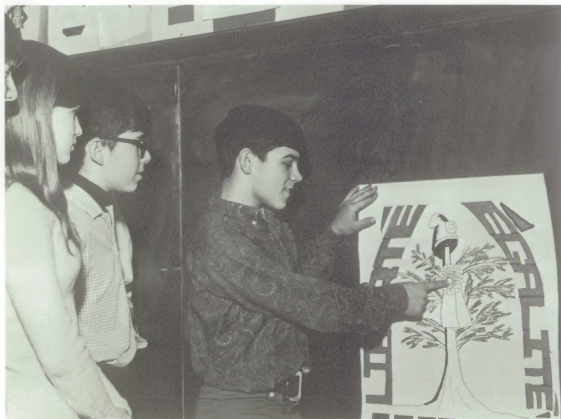

Since two years of language are required for a college preparatory course, students had their choice of French, German, Latin, or Spanish. All four classes studied the basic requirements of the language and learned of the background, the people, their dress and the up-to-date news of the country.

Beginning classes learned common vocabulary and practiced speaking the language through question and answer sessions, and short skits.

More advanced classes wrote themes and read books and magazines in their chosen foreign language.

acquisition of a second language

While studying French, students learn the significance of the phrase, "Liberty, Fraternity, and Equality."

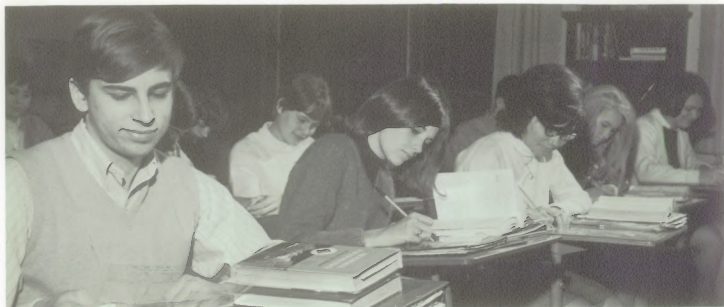

A solution to this complicated algebraic equation requires concentration, logical thinking, and plenty of time.

Frustration increases as Senior trigonometry student Maureen Gaspar strives to solve an identity involving sine and cosine functions.

Theorems take form in the students' minds as well as on the new transparencies used in geometry class.

faculty logic and complicated logarithms

Drawing an angle on the board helps this student visualize a theorem.

The mathematics department at Clark provided a widely diversified program of study for developing the ability to apply sound and accurate reasoning.

Algebra I introduced Freshmen to the theory of equations and axioms of equality. After successfully mastering the fundamentals of algebra, Sophomores plunged intensely into the study of geometry. Students learned the theorems, postulates, proofs, and reasoning power so necessary for their study of plane and Euclidean geometry. Advanced algebra offered a year of quadratics, exponents, logarithms, and imaginary numbers. Fourth year trig and college algebra students entered the realm of higher mathematics. They studied logic, vectors, circular functions, and complex numbers.

Senior Ken Solkey and Junior Jerry Stasney scrutinize rocks and determine their mineral composition in earth science class.

Animals reside in lab while students study

The new guinea pigs, hamsters, mice, and rats aided biology students in studying animal life.

Learning human anatomy from a life-sized skeleton fascinates and instructs health and safety students.

their surrounding environment

Working with simple plants to complex animals, biology students studied the systems of all forms of life. The addition of some guinea pigs and mice made it possible for students to visualize many animal habits.

Earth science classes learned of the geography and geology of the world by viewing samples of rocks, drawing maps, and seeing photos of natural landmarks.

General science classes did not specialize in any specific field, but offered a basic introduction to the whole realm of science.

While studying the body's systems, health and safety classes viewed models of the ear and eye.

G. Halik and P. Stecy employ skill and ingenuity while working on their weekly physics experiment.

Experimentation highlights physics and chem

With the tinkle of test tubes and the aroma of a freshly-mixed sulfur compound, busy young chemists congregated around lab tables, attempting to create a correct chemical mixture. Such laboratory experiments were an important part of chemistry class. Along with lab work students learned through class discussion and lectures.

Also doing extensive laboratory work, the physics classes shied away from chemicals but worked more with practical experiments and everyday occurrences. Much work was done with problems pertaining to modern circumstances and students became acquainted with physics' role in man's life.

Under the guidance of Mr. Van Til, both classes gained experience in the field of advanced science and proved the reasons for many commonly accepted phenomena.

Chemistry students B. Lesak and L. Spanier use the effects of heat and polarized light to study crystals.

Students use maps and globes to study the geography of the world.

Mr. Majcher's econ class enjoys figuring stock gains and losses.

comprehension and awareness of life

Mr. Roman points out the Louisiana Purchase to U.S. history students.

Attempting to enlarge the students' viewpoint of the world, the social studies department taught about people, past and present, and the land in which they lived.

Government and economics helped show the student his place in American politics by explaining the basic and complex principles of democracy.

World history students studied the advancement of man and his ability to cope with arising conflicts, while U.S. history classes related their nation's past to its present.

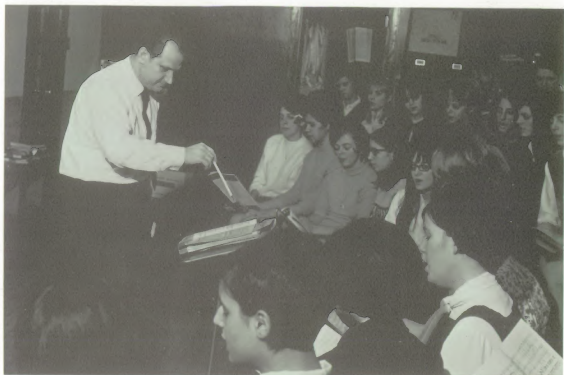

Geography showed students the importance of the earth's natural features on different peoples' ways of life and also on the occurrence of historical events.

Offered as electives, social problems and contemporary history allowed students to delve a little deeper into society.

Staffed by nine teachers, the history department prepared students for the life ahead of them.

Government students stage mock U.N. General Assembly to gain new insights in the international scene.

Music theory and technique study offer

The mystery of music unveils itself to the Music Theory class under the direction of Mrs. Lane.

Rehearsing difficult passages during band, clarinetists blend tones to achieve a balanced sound.

student expression and enrichment

Mrs. Lane guides and appreciates efforts of two young musicians.

As no part of the world is without some form of music, it is clear that there is a spontaneous impulse in man to sing, dance and play instruments. Music, more than any other pursuit, offers the opportunity to get away from the ordinary things in life.

While in school, music gave every student an opportunity to express himself. Weekly lessons, given by Mr. Dycus and Mrs. Lane, augmented the music education of many students. A course in music theory, taught by Mrs. Lane, was given to further benefit students.

Vocal students under the direction of Mr. Church strove for perfection and order through the study of techniques and theory.

Music played an active part in student life, ranging from brassy pep assemblies and psychedelic dances to Christmas caroling and concerts of the classics. Both listeners and participators learned to appreciate music as an enriching experience in their lives.

Business challenges of the future depend on a

Under Miss Coughlan's careful supervision, shorthand students prepare themselves for future employment.

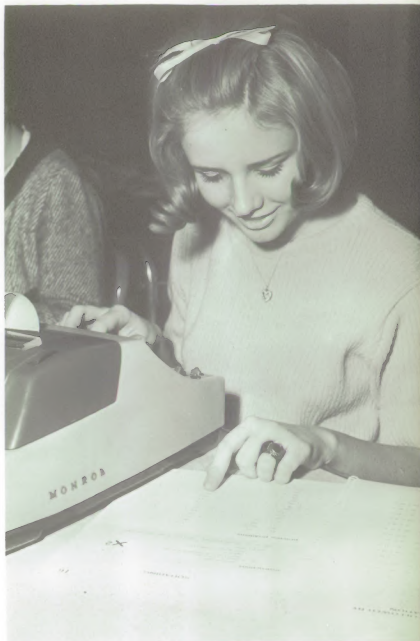

A computer simulator is utilized by two data-processing students.

solid foundation of skill

Opportunities of the business world are constantly increasing and becoming more complex. The Clarkite, who was concerned about his future, was well aware of this fact. To meet the challenges ahead a student must prepare himself. The business department at Clark offered students the opportunity for this advancement and preparation.

Almost every student at Clark found typing part of the foundation on which he would build his various skills. For those who desired a secretarial position, a complete two-year shorthand course was offered. In addition, business machines and filing bestowed invaluable office experience. In Business Law and Consumer Problems, students analyzed specific situations dealing with legal procedures and budgeting.

These studies required dedicated efforts, from which most students reaped benefits of their labors.

Using the adding machine, Bev Vavrek calculates her figures.

Vocational Guidance students gain insights to prospective jobs.

Jim Hashu demonstrates that cooking is not always a woman's art.

Linda Spanier was the recipient of the General Mills award.

Concentration is shown as a clothing student sews her first garment.

Carol Zmija, Jan Marcisz, and Patti Saksa gain experience and knowledge in the culinary arts.

Homemakers practice for future family roles

Amidst the constant hum of busy sewing machines, skilled hands trimmed original creations. All four semesters of clothing offered girls new horizons to conquer. Starting with the basic pincushion and shift, future seamstresses worked their way up to formals and spring coats.

In the foods department both boys and girls learned the basic ingredients of a good meal, starting from setting the table to doing the dishes. All the way from muffins to apple pie, students learned the disappointment of a failure and the ecstasy of a success.

Home Management and family living showed the girls situations which they would face in their future life. Besides learning how to balance a budget and select furnishings for a new home, students also experienced unexpected calamities.

Shop classes geared to blueprints and wood

Whether a ten-story office building or a backyard playhouse, all buildings need some sort of plan of construction. In orienting students to the methods of designing a building, mechanical drawing teachers tried to prepare their classes for a future in architecture. Both boys and girls participating in these classes learned the basics of a blueprint and practiced drawing them.

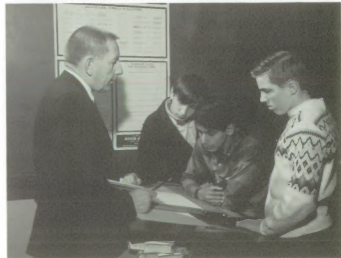

In shop classes boys constructed various objects from bird houses to book shelves. They learned the art of woodworking and experienced the pride of creating something with their hands.

Aided by efficient instructors, industrial arts students learned more of the skills needed to create a home and furnish it.

E. Antilla stirs thought to deed as he works to express a mood.

Under the direction of Miss Nornel Morrison, the art department transformed Clark halls into a gallery displaying creative works of various students.

Developing many hidden talents, art classes worked with various types of materials such as clay, wood, yarn, and charcoal.

Beginning art classes stressed the basic use of artistic tools and the development of an ability to express oneself. Advanced students concentrated on sketching facial features and capturing the expressions of live models.

The art department's main projects for the year were creating ornaments for the Christmas trees and helping with the scenery for the plays and concerts.

Artists brighten halls with creative works

Driver ed. students study the accident board in front of the Hammond City Hall.

Drivers overcome angle parking, flat tires

Eager to get behind the wheel, many Clarkites enrolled in driver education during the summer. Power under control was emphasized on the road as well as in the classroom.

The first day of summer school found anxious Clarkites buckling seatbelts, adjusting and checking rear view mirrors, and warily stepping on the accelerator. Clark field and Forsythe Park served as practice areas, as students learned to maneuver the cars. Sessions were devoted to night driving and a two-hour trip.

Actual driving was only part of the course. Drivers learned the parts of the car and their functions. Safety became the important factor from the mechanics of the automobile to experience on the expressways.

Ray Bazarko jacks up his car to change a flat tire in driver ed.

Journalism class uses skills in cub edition

Textbooks, newspapers, field trips and open discussions formed the curriculum which aided promising writers in gaining knowledge in the field of journalism. Aside from the classroom learning, the most valuable experience came with the writing and production of their cub edition of the Pioneer News.

The students, under the supervision of Mr. Muir, had pressing deadlines to meet in the production of the Pioneer News. Deciding what appeals to the reader helped in the preparation of a more interesting newspaper. The next steps of production followed. Articles were fitted into limited spaces, stencils typed, and papers mimeographed. The deadline was met and the journalists benefited from their applied knowledge.

Journalists expand their talents to the mass media on WCAE; Students planned, wrote, and presented area news and interviews.

Journalism students travel to area newspaper plants and radio stations, where they witnessed the integral workings of the news media.

Activities

Through participation in activities and association with people, he broadened his viewpoint.

Honor societies, thespians, and debaters

Dedicated to honoring students showing exceptional scholarship, leadership, and character, National Honor Society selected its members from all Juniors and Seniors achieving a B average. Chosen by the faculty, members were inducted at an assembly. The honor society was comprised of 10% of the Juniors and 15% of the Seniors. Gold tassels were worn by NHS members at graduation in recognition of their achievements.

Gaining experience in all fields of stage production, members of National Thespians had to devote at least thirty hours to stage work and also had to have one walk-on part before being considered for membership. Members of the troupe examined dramatic and technical phases of the theater. Highlighting Troupe No. 1769's activities was an original skit presented to the entire student body.

Members of National Forensic League earned points through public speaking and debates. Participating in events with other schools, Clark Forensics learned their faults and capabilities.

Under the guidance of Mr. Erickson and Mrs. Gehring, members received many honors in the fields of original oratory, poetry, extemporaneous speaking, and various types of debate.

Sponsored by Mr. George Muir, Quill and Scroll is an international organization honoring top journalists. Members were selected from students in the top third of the Junior and Senior classes who were on the staff of either the Pioneer News or the Powder Horn. After achieving excellent journalistic work, those accepted received gold pins signifying their membership in the society.

Lead Student Council activities

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS—S. Toth, sec.; M. Dzuravcik, veep; J. Francis, treas.; E. Tangalos, pres.

The fund raising project sponsored by this year's Student Council was one of originality. Students bought navy blue jerseys trimmed in white and gold with their respective graduating year. The profits made not only provided funds for activities, but helped instill more school spirit.

After a successful jersey drive, the Student Council undertook another campaign of selling student directories. The directories arrived early in November.

The intramural program was enriched by the addition of indoor soccer during the Winter months and flag-football in the Spring. A new feature to Clark's line of activities was the first Winter Festival. Students participated enthusiastically in a tug-o-war, ice sculpture competition, sled races, and skating relays. During the semester break a Computer Dance, where Clarkites were matched by computer to their ideal dates, was sponsored by the Student Council.

At the end of the school year, the Council culminated its activities by sponsoring an Inaugural Ball for the 1968-1969 Council Officers.

Although it demands the devotion and concentrated effort of all members, the choral department, 234 strong, reigned supreme as the largest organization at Clark.

The department's first production was the Fall Concert. It included the annual Panorama and an arousing patriotic sequence. This concert was presented to a standing-room-only crowd who rose from their seats at the conclusion to applaud the performing groups.

The Christmas Concert included performances by the band, orchestra, and choral groups. Besides the traditional selections, "And the Glory of the Lord," Bach Cantata Number 142, and songs composed by Mr. Church were presented.

In addition to these activities, the Concert Choir offered Christmas programs at Woodmar Methodist Church and later at Lake Central High School for a half-hour television special on Channel 50. The Choir topped off their busy season with a three-day tour in the spring.

Spirited singing groups captivate audiences

The Serenaders, comprised of Seniors, began the year with a program at the opening of the new Hammond Public Library. Selections for the Fall Concert ranged from "I'm in the Mood for Love" to "Back Home Again in Indiana." The group presented a madrigal and the operetta, "Speak Up," at the Spring Concert and on tour.

Sailors at Great Lakes Naval Hospital and members of the Tri Kappa Sorority were entertained by the Girls' Ensemble. "I'll Never Say No" was a popular performance number. Red pant jumpers, made by the girls, added color to their diverse programs.

Festival and concerts comprise Orchestra year

Under its new director, Mrs. Dale Lane, the orchestra started a fresh season by performing in the annual Holiday Concert.

The Winter Concert, again held in January, was performed in conjunction with the band. "Camelot" and "Knightsbridge March" were presented.

During the year, instrumentalists acquired new skills through lessons, conferences, and a workshop session held on the campus at Valparaíso University in March.

The all-city Music Festival in February enabled the Clark musicians to display their talents. Mrs. Lane directed the all-city orchestra through "Marche Slave."

The annual Spring Concert in May was the final public performance for a musical year, orchestra version.

STRING CLUB OFFICERS
—L. Rusnak, B. Herakovich,
S. Kaplan, B. Ruf.

String Club learns skills, displays talent

The newly formed String Club enabled students to learn basic skills on various string instruments. Individual and group lessons were given by Mrs. Dale Lane.

Members traveled to Chicago to see "The Nutcracker Suite" during Christmas vacation. They also went to recitals and popular concerts given by noted musicians and groups. A spring dance provided the funds necessary for the trips.

The club members were rewarded for their efforts in the Latin Club Talent Show.

Clark marchers exhibit precision and finesse

The Pom-Pon and Flag Corps, sponsored by Mrs. Cougill, had another busy year. New outfits, designed by the girls, were worn for performances at basketball games to set the mood for their modern dance routines. A new trend was also set when the girls danced without pom-poms to the tune of "Pitty Pat."

Mrs. Gehring became the new leader of the Twirlers. Many of the Twirlers' clever routines were set to the beat of "Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass."

Months of work, both in summer heat and winter snow, went into the snap precision these groups displayed in parades and at football and basketball games.

Drum Major Jim Francis leads band through precision routines.

Under the direction of Mr. James Dycus the G.R.C. Band played an active part in most school functions.

Entertainment was provided at home and away football games during the fall. The pep band instilled school spirit with the rouser and "We've Got Spirit" at basketball games.

With the coming of Christmas the band entered a float in the Hammond parade and marched with seasonal cheer.

The Winter Concert, held in January, featured "Highlights from Hawaii" and "Egmont Overture". The Spring Concert ended the year with the presentation of Senior keys to those graduating.

French Club sells pennants; boosts spirit

Clark's French Club, in its sixth year, emphasized active participation. Members plunged into their first successful project by selling Clark pennants to boost school spirit. The annual Christmas party provided an enjoyable evening, as did a hayride in November. Other activities included a bake sale and a trip to a French restaurant in Chicago for dinner. Joining forces with the other language clubs, the French Club helped to sponsor a dance.

Under the guidance of Miss Sauvain, regular monthly meetings were conducted. Besides discussing and planning club activities, members studied about the French people and their customs to increase their understanding of the language.

The officers, announced at last year's French Club banquet were Pat Broderick, president; Sue Hmurovic, vice president; Marcy Meldahl, treasurer; Cindy Hric, secretary; and Nanci Laurincik, activities chairman.

ADVANCED GERMAN CLUB OFFICERS—D. Guy, vice president; B. Lesak, secretary; C. Foreman, president; B. Winebarger, treasurer.

German caroling adds to gaiety

The Clark German Club displayed its growing membership by the addition of several new activities. These included the presentation of three editions of the German newspaper, "Die Puder Hupe," to the German students and a very successful Christmas Bake Sale. Numbered among annual activities were the Fall and Spring car washes, a tobogganing excursion, and a spring field trip to Chicago. Highlighting the club's activities was an evening of German Christmas caroling, followed by the Christmas party.

Club meetings often featured reports of Germany from I.U. Honor students, Doug Guy and Prudy Davis. Interested students acquired a deeper and wider perspective of the language and German customs through these lectures, films, slides, and group activities.

Club officers were President Chris Foreman; Vice President Doug Guy; Secretary Betty Lesak; and Treasurer Bob Winebarger.

Mrs. Ingrid Peek, in her first year of teaching at Clark, sponsored the German Club.

Fun night and pinatas; key to Spanish success

The traditional Christmas party opened the year's major activities for the Spanish Club. The Spanish atmosphere was heightened by the breaking of three pinatas. It was with this seasonal good cheer that the Freshman Spanish Club sent Christmas packages to soldiers in Vietnam.

A trip to see the play, Man of La Mancha, gave Spanish students a chance to see their required reading in action. Flavorful food at a typical Spanish restaurant provided another cultural activity for the club members. The Spanish atmosphere was completed when members were serenaded by music. Signaling the end of a prosperous and eventful year was the annual "Fun Night," which was held in the gym.

This year's Spanish Club attained the largest membership of the language clubs. Because of its size, it was necessary to divide the club into two groups. Mrs. Encinosa supervised the Advanced and Sophomore Clubs, while Miss Morris was in charge of the Freshman Club.

A landmark in the life of Latin Club was the chartering of a chapter in the Junior Classical League for advanced Latin students. The purpose of this nation-wide organization is to unite students interested in the classical languages.

In the fall Latin Club worked with the language clubs to sponsor a dance and bake sale. Virgil's birthday was celebrated in October and the slave auction took place at the Saturnalia. In March, Latin Club held their Talent Show in hopes of sending three students to Italy for six weeks of study.

Books beckon beyond routine class lessons

Both the Library and Literary Clubs offered the opportunity to acquaint members with all types and phases of literature and to develop a richer, cultural background.

Devoted to assistance, members of the Library Club covered and arranged books, wrote book fine slips, found magazines for reference-minded students, and did over-all clean-up jobs. Miss Harriet Lake and assistant Mrs. Ruth Rudser combined their efforts to make the library serve the students. Highlighting the club's activities was the annual Christmas party.

As the library was available to all students, those particularly interested were members of the Literary Club, sponsored by Miss Rozich. In her first year of sponsorship, Miss Rozich planned the beginning semester of school with a study in depth of poetry. By focusing attention on the fine arts, a dramatic presentation of poetry and the theater was given.

ART CLUB OFFICERS AND SPONSOR—R. Kottka, P. Vasilak, J. Shields, M. Hahney, A. Moreland, C. Locicero, M. McGlinchy, M. Smigla, Miss Morrison.

Original ideas in art were attempted by this year's Art Club. Sponsored by Miss Norabel Morrison, the members of the club expressed their creativeness with paper, paint, and pencil. One of the club's unusual achievements was a psychedelic Christmas tree. The Art Club also made ornaments for the tree in the school hall.

A psychedelic tattoo booth was one of the Art Club's unique projects of the year. This was conducted at the Food Fair in October. A dance, which was held in the Spring, was the chief fund raising accomplishment of the club. The profits from these activities were used to buy new materials for the use of the club.

World of business faces Future Secretaries

The Future Secretaries' Club was composed of Senior girls who were interested in pursuing careers as secretaries. At each meeting a former shorthand student of Clark returned to share her experiences with the girls. Although the talks covered a wide range of subjects, descriptions of pre-employment tests, previews of office life, and grooming tips were most often discussed. A question and answer period followed each session. These meetings served as an incentive to the shorthand students who strived to meet the requirements necessary to obtain a position in the business world.

The officers were Gloria Gallas, who served as president, and Barb Skura, who acted as secretary-treasurer. The club was under the direction of Miss Joan Coughlan.

FTA members perceive basics of teaching

Future Teachers of America Club, under the leadership of Miss McCampbell, began the new year with the installation of new members and officers. The officers installed were Kathy Demkovich as president, Sue Martich, who assisted her as vice president, Ellen Geffert, recorder of the minutes, and Maureen Gaspar, who handled finances for the year.

The girls got their first taste of what's involved in the teaching profession with the movie, "Timmy and the Three R's," which followed a youngster through a year of kindergarten.

Since entering the field of teaching is the main ambition of each member of the club, several girls participated in cadet teaching to gain experience for future work. Under the guidance of Miss Dudas, elementary principal, the girls learned patience and the necessary qualities of an elementary teacher.

The club also entertained handicapped children.

interests in future careers

Because of Mr. Powell's strong interest in extra-curricular education, three Biology Club members attended the Museum of Natural History lectures during Christmas vacation. Three others were also able to attend NSF programs at Purdue and Iowa Universities during the summer. After examining the new biology lab during the first meeting of the '67-68 school year, the club went to a Loyola University High School Day for its first field trip.

The Medical Arts Club, also sponsored by Mr. Powell, was devoted to stimulating and confirming interest in the health sciences. Sponsored by Mr. VanTil, the Science Projects Club experimented with scientific phenomena.

A Future Nurses' Club was added in September, which was open to Junior and Senior girls definitely interested in nursing. In addition to movies, the girls attended an open house at Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago. Sponsor of this club is Mrs. Miller.

Clark's Drama Department, under the direction of Miss Carol Kramsky, worked to achieve a greater understanding of the stage and its facilities. The newly founded Dramatics Club worked on acting exercises to improve imagination, concentration, and ability on the stage.

Scenery and props for the plays and presentations given during the year were often made by Stage Crew members. The group met every month to learn more about backstage equipment and the design of modern scenery.

The purpose of the entire department was to learn about acting and the other facets of the theater. Pure as the Driven Snow and Androcles and the Lion enabled both the Dramatics Club and the Stage Crew to gain first-hand experience in stagecraft.

Efforts of club members yield rewards

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Erickson, Photography Club grew into an enthusiastic group of 33 boys. They took dozens of pictures, which they developed in the school darkroom. Many of the pictures were used in the Powder Horn, Pioneer News, and The Times.

Photographers, Dave Krall, Bruce Rudzinski, Chuck Steffel, and Doug Milward have developed the club into an efficient organization which performs a necessary service to the publication departments of the school.

The first year of the Advanced Reading Club was sponsored by Mrs. Carol Huber. The accomplishments of the club resulted from the efforts of its constituents.

One of the money making projects was the "Semester Swing." The members also journeyed to Chicago to see Gone With The Wind.

1968-the year of change-recorded in

Early in the spring of 1967 the framework of the 1968 Powder Horn took shape. Editor Barb Steffel and her assistant, Tina Nowak selected staff members and charted a course of the work that was to be done.

In the fall, staff members began the actual task of recreating the school year. They solicited ads, sold books, and tried to capture the sights and sounds of the Clark student body.

In accordance with the theme, A Switch From Routine, the '68 Powder Horn featured more color pictures, more pages, and a new, coarser paper.

Publications sponsor, Mr. George Muir, patiently guided the staff through some of their most exasperating crises.

Pioneer News staff strives to attain

The Pioneer News completed its 35th year of publication as 32 mimeographed issues were printed and distributed during the school year.

The editors, page writers, typists, proof readers, mimeographers, and pagefolders worked together to make the Pioneer News ready to be distributed on time every Friday morning. The advisor, Mr. Muir, stressed the importance of speed and efficiency as each issue was produced. P.N. correspondents also conveyed GRC news to The Times, Whiting Times Graphic, and other schools.

A new feature was added to the paper. Each week one of the foreign exchange students wrote about his memorable experiences in a new land. School activities, sports, and students were also featured. The highlight editions were the Back-to-School issue, Thanksgiving issue, Christmas issue, and the Senior Memory book.

Clubs eagerly contribute time to others

In the fall new ideas were introduced in the Health Careers Club. Although it was formerly open to any high school girl, the club was forced to cut its membership. This allowed for those girls genuinely interested in the field of health to become better informed of the types of careers open to them. The members saw movies and heard speakers on such careers as a dental hygienist, occupational or physiological therapist, dietician, or an X-ray, medical, dental, or lab technician. Sponsor of this club was Mrs. Florence Miller.

Since 1942 Clark's chapter of the National Youth Red Cross has raised funds by presenting a movie to the student body. The admittance fee of a quarter also served as dues. Proceeds from this project were used to send parcels to needy children in schools in less-fortunate countries overseas, and the remainder was donated to international and local assistance programs. This club is sponsored by Miss Margaret Ide.

"Never a dull moment" could be the motto of the Audio Visual Organization. The boys kept busy answering the urgent pleas of teachers for equipment and qualified personnel to operate them.

Members lent a helping hand in assemblies and at football games. The language lab continued to run smoothly under their watchful eye. The AVO provided entertainment at the Food Fair by showing films.

Four boys attended the AVO Workshop at I.U. last summer. They returned to utilize their newly acquired knowledge, thus improving their form of operation.

Officers of the club include Harold Rozinski, Eugene Greven, Jack Hojnacki, and Joseph Tkacz.

The club continues to expand under the direction of Mr. Everett Thomas.

Y-Teens probe ideas of world fellowship

The Y-Teens of GRC were proud to have two of their members elected to offices of the inter-club held at the YWCA in Hammond. Nancy Laurencik was chosen vice-president and Linda Emery, secretary. The girls attended meetings on the first Tuesday of each month and served Y-Teen members of all Hammond schools.

The highlight of the year was the Christmas party for orphans. Cartoons, refreshments, and Santa Claus made the afternoon memorable for all.

Other activities included a slumber party, a Spring dance, a potato chip drive, and a Summer conference which gave outstanding members a chance to exchange ideas with girls from other sections of Indiana. Members also participated in discussions during World Fellowship Week at the YWCA.

Hi-Y teaches members leadership principles

The Hi-Y established themselves as one of the most active organizations at Clark. Sponsored by the Hi-Y for the first time was the Battle of the Bands Concert which featured such groups as "The Hartford Convention" and "The Renaissance." They competed for the top prize of a hundred-dollar savings bond. Other fund-raising projects were the annual car wash and "The Boys Next Door" Dance.

With the proceeds from these money-making projects, Hi-Y members enjoyed two trips to the fabulous Cheetah where they saw "The Buckingham" perform. Hi-Y also dedicated their services to other school projects and donated money toward scholarship funds to benefit those who were graduating. Besides sponsoring numerous activities, Hi-Y stressed the principles of leadership and fellowship throughout the school year.

Ski and hockey trips taken by Forum Club

The Forum Club, with well over 200 members, was one of the largest organizations at Clark.

Early in the year members ventured to the Bismark Theater in Chicago to see the highly acclaimed film, Camelot. Thus began a very successful year in which members went to a hockey game, took a ski trip, and saw a variety of concerts and plays in Chicago.

The year was highlighted by a trip to Mexico which took place during the Easter Holidays. While in Mexico, Clarkites visited many famous places including the University of Mexico, the Pyramid of the Sun built by the ancient Toltec Indians, and the city of Taxco where many fine articles of silver are produced.

This past year, as in previous years, the Forum Club helped support an orphan in Asia and contributed to the Hayward Memorial Fund.

Booster Club generates spirit and enthusiasm

BOOSTER CLUB OFFICERS—D. Kalina, treasurer; C. Peters, vice president; E. Jancosek, president; K. Janik, secretary.

"We Want Action Now" symbolized the feelings of Clark's students and faculty. The Booster Club fulfilled this task by boosting all school activities.

During basketball games, members of the booster block created a new look by wearing blue capes and beanies and displaying cards.

Under the helpful assistance of Mr. Oral Watkins, members proved to be united in promoting good sportsmanship and enthusiastic participation in all school activities.

Students pursue hobbies through

The 143 members of Chess Club kept sponsors Mr. Williamson and Mr. Bocken busy every activity period. Basic techniques were taught to new members, while experienced players planned more advanced strategy.

The club engaged in a tournament among members and a tournament at Bishop Noll. A state chess meet in Indianapolis highlighted the year.

Members of the newly organized Knitting Club developed fundamentals of knitting. Projects undertaken by the girls ranged from booties to sweaters. Miss Marie Nordvig patiently solved the beginners' problems.

Under the supervision of Mr. Williams and Mr. Powell, bridge prospects learned to count points, to trump, and to play partners. The first year of Bridge Club proved to be successful.

Pioneers end season above .500;

Although a valiant effort, this Clark halfback is brought down.

Finishing over the .500 mark for the first time in 14 years, the '67 Pioneer football squad boasted one of Clark's best records. Two early season grudge victories over Munster and Morton, and a dramatic uphill struggle against Noll gave the Pioneers a 3-0 mark to start the season. A second-half passing game determined the Munster game, while Morton was beaten on the ground. Against Noll the Pioneers produced a touchdown with 1:30 left on the clock, capping an 85 yard drive on five consecutive passes.

For the first time in years the cry of, "We've got spirit!" meant something other than defeat. Spirit, however, was dampened with the Pioneers slipping to a powerful Washington squad on a wet field. The two homecoming games that followed were anything but welcoming to the explosive Clark squad. Gavitt's homecoming was the scene of the first and only time the squad was held scoreless. Facing Hammond High in their own Homecoming game, the Pioneers swamped the Wildcats in every department except vital points.

The Tech Tigers helped Clark get back into the win column as they succumbed to a devastating six touchdown bombing. Mud, rain, and snow marked the Roosevelt game with the Pioneers failing in another six point squeaker. In the traditional season closer the Whiting Oilers were no match for the Pioneers, as they recorded their fifth win of the season to post a 5-4 ledger.

With good blocking, halfback Duane Duracz leads the Clark team in scoring.

Noll defeated with only 1:30 remaining;

Numerous players received post season honors, showing the quality and quantity of materials the coaching staff of Peterson, Powell, and Williams had to work with. Named to the all-county team were Duane Duracz and Steve Hurley; Yearsich and Strabavy received honorable mention. Duracz was also named to the All-Calumet Area team of the Chicago Tribune.

A welcome addition to this year's squad was Senior Phil King whose halfback options to Lloyd Burch or around end kept the opposition's defense honest. Clark's front four, composed of Mike Dzurovcik, Paul Strabavy, Steve Hurley and Jack Pavlovich, allowed the opposition only 81 points and helped the Clark offensive unit rack up a total of 161 points. Although most of the line will be graduating, an experienced backfield will return next year. Returning lettermen include Dave Davis, Bob Talabay, Marty Shimala, Spike Murphree, Jack Klasen, Bob Hendry, Andy Miterko, and Joe Steliga.

The Freshmen and B-Squads did not fare as well as the varsity this season. B-Squad turned in a season record of 0-3-4, and the Freshman team posted a 1-7 season. The lone Freshman victory came with the defeat of Gavitt 26-6. Outstanding players in that game and for the year were Bob Strabavy and Larry Kessler. Although the B-Squad failed to win a game, they were never defeated by more than two touchdowns.

Harriers gain fourth place in city meet

With only three returning lettermen, Coach Shield's cross-countrymen finished the season with a better than .500 average. Coach Shields based the team's success on good leadership on the part of the senior lettermen and great backing from the fine junior runners.

The Harriers led by Mike Duhon, team captain, placed fourth in the Hammond City Meet and gained a major victory by placing seventh out of twenty-two at the sectionals. Outstanding runners on the varsity squad were Javier Deluna, Jim Haddad, Bob Navta, Ken Solkey, Joe Domagalski, Jerry Stasny, and Carroll Sievers. These runners consistently turned in times under 11:00.

The B-Squad showed strength by finishing with a perfect .500 average. Mainstays on this squad were Chuck Stepke, Larry Koch, and Phil Murich.

Racketmen defeat 8 opponents; drop 5

Led by a trio of experienced lettermen, Clark's tennis team battled its way to second place in the city with a respectable 8-5 season. The team opened the season with a close 3-2 win over the Gavitt Gladiators. The Pioneers lost their next two matches to Hammond High and Lew Wallace, who later placed one and two in the conference, but immediately rebounded with a pair of easy victories over Tolleston and Gary Roosevelt.

With only one senior on the team, Eric Tangalos, Coach Hein had to depend on the Juniors and the fine doubles work of Pete Stecy and Louis O'Drobinak. Good performances were turned in by George Humphreys and Rich Skurka in the second and third singles spots and by Pete Brandman and Chuck Steffel, the second doubles team.

Ending the season on an upswing, the racketmen captured four matches in a row. In the true tennis tradition, the Heinsmen finished with one of the most respectable varsity team records.

Chuck Steffel and Pete Brandman composed the second doubles team.

Roundballers show quality style in

Senior Bob Ruf takes careful aim with a jump shot against Mann.

Dave Hein's basketball team initiated their season by losing a 64-62 heartbreaker to Lake Central. The Roundballers bounced back to beat S. B. Washington for the first time since 1960. After dropping three straight to Valpo, Horace Mann, and Emerson, the Pioneers rebounded to top Highland, 68-51. The Heinsmen next journeyed to Gary to challenge the tough Roosevelt Panthers. However, Clark fell at the hands of the eventual regional champs. Before entering the Holiday Tourney the Pioneers dropped a game to Lew Wallace.

In the opening round of the tourney, Clark was dropped by Tech, but came back to defeat Gavitt in the consolation match the following night. After conceding a close contest to Hammond High, the Pioneers played their best ball of the year as they nudged Tech, 70-67. This game served as an equalizer to avenge an earlier 23 point loss to the Tigers.

Continuing their streak, the Roundballers disposed of Whiting, 67-59, as Seniors Bob Ruf and Phil King hit the nets for 24 and 18 points respectively. The next night the Pioneers journeyed to River Forest, but showed signs of wear from the previous night, and they lost to the Ingots. After nipping Gavitt, the Hardcourtmen went into a five-game losing slump before bowing to eventual tourney champ, Tech, in the Sectionals.

end 10-6, tie for city championship

Hustling Louis O'Drobinak makes the cut to set up an open shot.

The Settlers and Homesteaders posted outstanding records this season by finishing 14-5 and 10-6 respectively. First year coach Jack Williamson attributed the B-team's success to a "hustling defense and a tremendous desire to win." The team's scoring fell upon the steady aims of Junior Paul Strabavy and Louis O'Drobinak and sophomore Bob Walters. The Settlers, playing host for the B-squad holiday tourney, placed third in this event behind E. C. Roosevelt and Tech. En route to their consolation game the Settlers defeated cross town rival Whiting 69-44 and Bishop Noll 69-50.

Freshman coach Ron Bocken, another first year man, assumed this new coaching assignment after spending a season with the same team in 8th grade. His team also based its successful season on an unyielding defense. Top scorers for the Homesteaders were Bob Strabavy and Bob Busch. The Freshman finished tied with Tech for the conference championship and placed second to E. C. Roosevelt in their holiday tournament. E. C. Roosevelt proved to be a real disaster to the Clark boys who were unable to defeat them in three encounters, thus constituting half of the team's losses.

One of the B-Squad's big guns, Paul Strabavy takes this 15 footer.

As fans and fellow team mates chant the word, 'pin,' Dan Wozniak maneuvers his man into a winning combination while referee looks on.

Ted Surma receives instructions on his offense between periods.

Grapplers overcome Munster and Whiting

In his first year as a Clark coach, John Weaver led the Clark grapplers to a 2-7-2 season record. The grapplers were stronger than their record might suggest, failing to win five additional matches that depended on only one additional weight class victory. The team also appeared strong in the conference finals with three men placing in the finals for their weight class. Ted Surma and Steve Hurley received third place medals and Ted Mecklin, a sophomore, placed fourth.

The team entered sectional competition with high hopes, being much improved over their showing to the conference break. However, only three matmen managed to place in the tough competition. Ted Surma placed third while Bud Thiessen and Dean Price drew fourths.

Ted Surma, team captain, led the team's scoring with a 16-3-1 tally at 133 pounds. The second best record was turned in by Bud Thiessen 12-4-1 at 112 pounds and Steve Hurley was third with 11-6-0 at 180 pounds.

Junior gymnasts swing into action;

Juniors led the gymnastics team to their second successful season by securing victories over Hammond High, Tech, Elkhart, and Hanover Central. With no Seniors on this year's team, the burden of victory fell on Juniors Spike Murphree (parallel bars), Tom Haig (side horse), Barry Hargett (floor exercise), Frank Foreman (tumbling), and Jack Klasen (rings), all first men in their events. Sophomore John Shields, first man on the trampoline, showed great prowess and Sophomores Phil Lund and Ron Beeson rounded out the nucleus of the team.

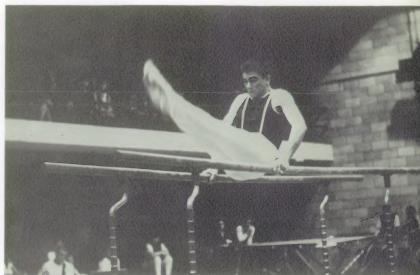

In last year's state competition Frank Foreman placed 8th in tumbling, placing the team 10th in the state. Clark also captured the unofficial city title this year by defeating Hammond High, Tech, and the newly established Morton team in a quadrangular meet.

First place at Clark Relays highlights season

Coaches Powell and Johnson worked with a talented Clark track squad and produced a rewarding season. In the individual meets the team fared much better than their final 12th place rating in the conference outdoor meet. Proof of this was their second places in the conference and city indoor meets and firsts in the Renseleer and Clark Relays.

The strongest events for this year's team were the mile relay, the broad jump, and the hurdles. With a large turnout of new runners and a good supply of returning lettermen, Coach Powell has developed an excellent system for a perennial top-notch team.

The highlight of the season was the first place victory won at our own Clark Relays. Before a home crowd of hundreds, the proud trackmen proved that they were the top team by capturing first place in nine of the eleven events. Individual winners were Bob Bobin and Mike Dzuravcik. Although competing with some of the best high school runners in the nation from the Gary schools, the close-knit trackmen always managed to place well and can boast one of the school's best athletic records.

Stickmen defeat Tech and post 3-8 record

The baseball season started early in May with the Aldrichmen dropping the season opener to Gavit. Their next encounter was with Tech, whom they defeated 6-4 at this first engagement and 14-0 at a later date. The stickmen did not fare so well in their next four encounters, facing an especially tough Whiting team. The squad's next victory was an extra inning nerve wracker against Morton. Lloyd Burch and Bob Talaby provided the runs needed for the victory.

The Pioneers suffered two more defeats before meeting up with Tech again. In the last game of season play Clark dropped a heart breaker to none other than Whiting.

Trying to improve on this year's 3-8 record will be returning lettermen Lloyd Burch, Phil King, Rich Wandel, Paul Strabavy, and Bob Talabay.

Golfers victors at Tolleston and Emerson

The 1967 Clark golf team consisted of eight members, including returning lettermen Rick Weiner, Ron Warner, and Jerry Kruczek. Charlie Grinstead, Tom Zato, Bob Hendry, Jerry Golembiewski, and Paul Kantor rounded out the rest of the team as Mr. Bocken assumed the coaching reins in his first year at Clark.

Embarking upon the '67 season, the Teebreakers were washed out of five of the first seven matches at Lake Hills. A driving rain again plagued the finishing field at the Lake Hills Invitational, as Clark finished near the bottom of the field. Late in the season, the team tacked on victories at the expense of Emerson and Tolleston and narrowly missed defeating East Chicago Roosevelt by only two strokes.

Intramurals bolster athletic zeal and fervor

Keeping up with physical fitness, Clark's Freshmen and Sophomore students were enrolled in gym classes which met two and three times weekly. Physical education activities ranged from trap-shooting to basketball, volleyball to bowling, and flag football to cage ball.

For those students desiring extra physical activity, the Student Council conducted an active intramural program. Rougher sports limited to boys were indoor soccer in the winter and flag football in the spring. Ping pong, bowling, volleyball, and chess tournaments, however, were open to boys and girls. Trophies were awarded to the winners.

New lettermen stand rigorous initiation

C-Club, composed of major letter winners, was under the sponsorship of Coach Ed Shields. The club's new tradition of initiation got into full swing with the incoming members enduring a rigorous test of strength and stamina at Clark field. The new lettermen learned the responsibilities required to entitle them to wear their "C."

As a service organization, members sold programs and

Girls' Athletic Club mixes fitness and fun

The Girls' Athletic Club had one of its most active years under the guidance of their sponsor, Miss Tolchinsky. The year began with the traditional picnic, which was held at Marquette Park. Members received points for partaking in various sports including swimming, softball, bowling, basketball, and a newly added volleyball tournament. Assembling an elephant for the Homecoming float and working in the concession stand at all home football games provided another method of earning valuable points.

The girls were rewarded for their efforts at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet held in May. They received their numerals, monograms, and letters. Trophies were presented to all members of the champion basketball team and to the top bowlers.

Top brass determine destiny of Clark

This year the Hammond School Board gave Clark the needed funds to refurnish the biology room with the adequate facilities required. It was also instrumental in the renovation of the guidance counseling office. Another project which the School Board undertook on behalf of GRC was the purchase of a kiln, used in the art department to bake clay.

At the close of the year, Dr. Oliver Rapp successfully completed his second year as the superintendent of the Hammond Public School System. Prior to his appointment as superintendent, Dr. Rapp received his administrative knowledge by serving for twelve years as the principal of Hammond High School. He earned his bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees at the University of Illinois. Having served in Europe during World War II, Dr. Rapp merited the rank of Lieutenant Colonel and was awarded the Bronze Star. At the present he is active in the Red Cross and is serving as the secretary of the Hammond Commission on Human Relations.

Superintendent Oliver Rapp encourages high educational standards.

Mr. Lockey, principal, effectively maintains faculty-student relations, to keep Clark running smoothly.

Assistant principal, Mr. Esterhay, adjusted quickly to the fast-moving tempo of Clark student life.

Administrators combine forces to renovate GRC

With his friendliness and ever-present cheerful outlook, Mr. Durward D. Lockey has become one of Clark's most popular leaders. As the "number one Pioneer booster," Mr. Lockey can be heard spreading school spirit at pep assemblies and other school functions.

His spirit was evident even while he was recovering from an accident incurred prior to the February basketball sectionals. One thousand students heard his voice over the public address system in the gym when he was unable to attend the pep assembly.

Mr. Lockey is active outside of his duties at GRC as a member of the Lions Club and the Community Chest. His limited hobbies include golfing and bowling.

Clark's "new man," Assistant Principal A. Joseph Esterhay, was given a chance to prove himself in Mr. Lockey's absence. Prior to his appointment at Clark, Mr. Esterhay served as a counselor at Hammond Tech, where he had also taught drafting and mathematics.

Miss Howe guides students in their college and career choices.

Mr. Edwin Martin, Clark chemistry and physics teacher from 1950 through 1963, is now guidance counselor of the class of 1969. Together with a special personal interest in the Student Review Board, Mr. Martin enjoys golfing and gardening.

The guidance counselor of the Class of 1970 and director of attendance, Mr. Raymond Buell is a 1946 CRC graduate and former teacher-coach. Interest leanings for Mr. Buell lie in bowling, golf, and gardening.

Supervisor of the guidance services and sponsor of the school's National Honor Society is Miss Edna Howe. School testing programs and careers' information have allowed Miss Howe to be part of a student's plans for the future.

The Clark administrative department created a new position and received a very capable man to fill it. Former student and business teacher Mr. Steve Stavros assumed the responsibilities of the Dean of Students.

Former girls' physical education instructor, Miss Doris Myers became the guidance counselor for the Class of 1968. Miss Myers proved to handle her new job very capably in spite of the many college transcripts she had to process.

Advising, disciplining and assisting

Mr. Edwin Martin plans the schedules of future Seniors.

Miss Myers cheerfully assists Seniors with college applications.

Mr. Stavros endeavors to promote responsibility in students.

constitute workload of guidance staff

Years of experience attest to Mr. Buell's ability as a counselor

The cafeteria staff works diligently to fulfill the daily menu.

The most enjoyable period of a student's day is his lunch hour, and the cafeteria staff makes this possible. These ladies have the job of planning and preparing well-balanced meals for the exhausted Clarkite.

Maintaining the confines of GRC is the job of the highly-skilled janitorial staff. Keeping Clark presentable for the students and faculty is a task which requires hours of work.

As in the organization of any efficiently-run business, the office is the most active and important department for the entire operation. The GRC office provides the numerous clubs with a clearing house for their fund raising activities. The staff handles the bulk of announcements and the records for absentees. Aside from their many other responsibilities, members of the staff serve as private secretaries to Mr. Lockey and Mr. Esterhay. The staff also keeps track of the students' financial status for debts outstanding.

Clark staffs discharge duties with precision

Always ready and willing, the competent office staff plays a major role in the school curriculum and outside activities.

Mr. Ed, one of Clark's favorite handymen, acts as a school guardian while at work.

EMERSON ALDRICH has taught at Clark for thirty years. In those years he has become math department chairman and teaches algebra and geometry. Mr. Aldrich is also head varsity baseball coach.

BETTY ASTLE teaches shorthand and English. Mrs. Astle is sponsor of the Junior-Senior Y-Teens and, like the typical Clark faculty member, she likes to read.

JAMES ASTLE appreciates good jazz. Expo '67 renders exciting memories for Mr. Astle. His main duty is that of being a history teacher; he is also co-sponsor of Forum Club.

STEPHEN BIEL recalls discussing the art of grenade throwing during his math class as his most unusual Clark experience. He enjoys bowling, golf, and basketball.

RONALD BOCKEN is coach of the Freshman basketball team and assistant coach of the Freshman football team after only two years at Clark. Mr. Bocken teaches science.

JAMES BOYLE is a high school business education instructor and assists as a junior high shop teacher. Mr. Boyle claims to be a relatively good golfer.

Vigilance channels study habits toward success

ELDON BUSS knows what it is like to teach typing without any typewriters. This situation faced him on his first day of teaching. Mr. Buss is a business education instructor.

BERNARD CHARLET is interested in reading and traveling and has studied in India and South-east Asia. Besides teaching history at Clark, he is the coordinator of social studies in Hammond.

DARREL G. CHURCH heads the choral department. He composes many of the numbers which his groups perform. Some of Mr. Church's works are in print. He also enjoys traveling.

JOAN M. COUGHLAN heads the business education department and sponsors the Secretaries Club. Semi-classical music and non-fiction literature occupy the rest of Miss Coughlan's time.

KATHRYN COUGILL teaches Senior English at GRC and is the sole sponsor of the Pom-poms and Flag Corps. Mrs. Coughill is a jazz enthusiast and enjoys playing the piano.

CATHERINE H. DUNHAM is a typing teacher who enjoys reading and cooking. Grandchildren, houseboating, and gardening monopolize most of Mrs. Dunham's spare time.

JAMES DYCUS helps fill the halls with music as he directs pep band, stage band, instrumental ensembles, soloists, and the GBC band. His interests include elementary electronics.

MARIA C. ENCINOSA counts reading and traveling as her hobbies but spends the majority of her time teaching Spanish and sponsoring Spanish Club, which is the largest of the language clubs.

ARTHUR A. ERICKSON heads the social studies department at Clark. Mr. "E" is also in charge of assemblies and sponsors Debate and Photography Club.

TERESA L. GEHRING is the new sponsor of Twirling and Forensic Arts. She teaches English III and speech classes. Miss Gehring enjoys skiing and frequently attends Clark athletic events.

DAVID HEIN is the industrial arts instructor and varsity basketball coach. Heading the tennis team, camping, and fishing capture the rest of Mr. Hein's time.

JOHN HESLIN regards driver education class as unusual and exciting. Mr. Heslin also teaches World History and U.S. History. Co-sponsoring Forum Club is another of his activities.

Advice in activities and individual

MICHAEL HRISO directs his efforts toward the Class of '71 as co-sponsor. When not teaching geometry and algebra he engages in various sport activities.

CAROL HUBER unites all Seniors as class co-sponsor. Mrs. Huber is an English and reading teacher, and acts as the sponsor of the Reading Clubs.

GEORGE HUBER serves as co-sponsor of the Class of '68. Mr. Huber teaches General Mathematics and Geometry. His interests vary from athletics to working crossword puzzles.

MARGARET IDE is one of Clark's home economics teachers and sponsor of High School Red Cross. Miss Ide regards a twenty-five mile camping trip into the Canadian wilderness as a memorable experience.

MIKE JOHNSON, a physical education teacher, is the gymnastics coach and the assistant track coach. Mr. Johnson enjoys camping and fishing at a summer camp in Ontario.

CAROL KRAMSKY has undertaken the job of directing school plays. Miss Kramsky teaches Freshman English and Sophomore speech. She is the sponsor of Thespians and Stage Crew.

HARRIET LAKE is the head librarian at Clark and sponsor of the Library Club. True to form, Miss Lake loves to read. Knitting and growing plants also interest her.

MARGARET LANE directs the high school orchestra and sponsors String Club. She also assists Mr. Church by teaching a girls' chorus class. Besides music, Mrs. Lane enjoys swimming.

RICHARD MAJCHER is idolized by many female Clarkites. Mr. Majcher not only teaches Economics but also sponsors Student Council and co-sponsors the Junior class.

DOLORES MCCAMPBELL is the only female assistant coach at Clark. Miss "Mac" teaches Junior English, sponsors FTA, and is chairman of Clark's English department.

FLORENCE MILLER is the school's well-known nurse and sponsor of the Health Careers' Club. Gardening is Mrs. Miller's favorite pastime when not performing her duties at Clark and Franklin.

JOSEPH MILLER teaches government and geography. He likes to read mystery novels and is kept busy raising a family. Mr. Miller also teaches junior high.

assistance denote faculty concern

JIM MOFFITT teaches Consumer Problems, Vocational Information, and physical education. He coaches the varsity golf team and the junior high basketball team.

ANITA MORRIS is one of Clark's Spanish teachers. Miss Morris is Spanish Club and Fresh-Soph Y-Teens sponsor. Reading and sewing are a few of the things she enjoys doing.

NORABEL MORRISON devotes her time to painting, sculpturing, and sketching. These are a few of the phases of art that she shares daily with her students. She is sponsor of the Art Clubs.

WILLIAM MUELLER has interests which vary from tropical fish to golf and bowling. Mr. Mueller teaches world history, world geography, and United States history.

GEORGE C. MUIR is adviser to the Powder Horn and the Pioneer News staffs. He teaches English and instructs the journalism classes. Camping and traveling occupy his spare time.

MARIE NORDVIG is sponsor of Clark's Knitting Club and functions as clothing instructor. Miss Nordvig derives a great deal of pleasure from vacationing in Florida.

INGRID PEEK, a native of Germany, has traveled throughout Europe. "Frau" Peek instructs students in the German classes and sponsors the German Club.

ALVIN PETERSON has the positions of head football coach, biology instructor, and head of the science department. Anything pertaining to sports proves interesting to Coach Peterson.

MARVIN PORTER is Clark's only special education teacher. When not helping his students, Mr. Porter spends much of his time bowling and playing basketball.

EDWARD POWELL instructs the biology classes and assists the football team as assistant coach. Coaching the track team and raising guinea pigs and children keep Mr. Powell busy.

THOMAS ROMAN teaches American history and economics. Outside of the classroom Mr. Roman acts as the sponsor of Hi-Y and the co-sponsor of the Class of '70.

MARY ANN ROZICH, English teacher, directs the activities of Literary Club. In her spare time Miss Rozich enjoys reading and listening to music.

Participation in student activities

RUTH RUDSER is one of the librarians at Clark. She loves to read and assists the sponsoring of Freshman-Sophomore Y-Teens and Library Club.

SANDRA SAUVAIN is French Club sponsor and French teacher. Playing bridge and reading keep her busy when she is not traveling to Europe, Mexico, or Canada.

ROBERT SCHNEIDER teaches bookkeeping, data processing, and business mathematics. Mr. Schneider is a first-year teacher and finds Clark "most enjoyable."

EDWARD SHIELDS fills the roles of athletic director, C-Club sponsor, and typing instructor. Coach Shields is well-known as "The Voice of the Pioneers" at all home football games.

DORIS SNIDER is a Sophomore English teacher and one of the Junior Class sponsors. A two-week trip in the Rocky Mountains is her most memorable experience.

C.E. STUBER recalls the Pan-American games in Winnipeg as a trip worth remembering. Mr. Stuber is a junior high math teacher and assists as wrestling coach.

DAVID TALABY is a member of Clark's English department. He is director of the intramural sports program. A sports enthusiast, he is interested in golf and bowling.

EVERETT THOMAS coaches middle school football and high school soccer. He teaches health and safety and sponsors AVO. Mr. Thomas spends much of his leisure time listening to music.

JEAN TOLCHINSKY came to Clark this year to assume the role of girls' physical education instructor. Miss "T", also sponsors CAC and all the cheering squads. She likes any type of sport.

ALAN VAN TIL is Clark's latest addition to the science department. When not filling his post as chemistry and physics instructor, he enjoys exploring the fields of astronomy and photography.

DOROTHY WALLACE, Clark's only trigonometry teacher, instructs Clarkites in college algebra, analytical geometry, and general math. Miss Wallace has a fondness for travel and bowling.

ORAL WATKINS is an active supporter of Clark sports. He serves as Booster Club sponsor and athletic financial manager. In addition, Mr. Watkins is a co-sponsor of the class of '71.

builds a pleasant school environment

JOHN WEAVER, U.S. History teacher, coaches varsity wrestling and Freshman football. In his free time Mr. Weaver delights in remembering past experiences.

BETTY WHYTE, a newcomer to the Clark faculty, teaches home economics. She is the sponsor of the Home Economics Club and the Freshman-Sophomore Y-teens.

LILLIAN WILCOX is the head of the foreign language department at Clark. She is the sponsor of the Latin and is sponsor to both Latin clubs. Mrs. Wilcox states that any type of travel captivates her.

WANDA WILHARM is known throughout Clark for her intense interest in the study of Biology. She teaches biology, earth science, and world geography.

RAY WILLIAMS teaches mechanical drawing and is an assistant coach of the football team. Mr. Williams delights in camping and sports events.

JACK WILLIAMSON is a junior high science teacher. He devotes much time to his duties as B-squad baseball and basketball coach and Chess Club sponsor. Sports encompass his main interests.

Seniors attain final accomplishments

The beaming faces of 1968's Ideal Seniors mirror fortune from successful and eventful years at Clark.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS AND SPONSORS—J. Banik, Mrs. Huber, Mr. Huber, L. McPheron, R. Murzyn, K. Carpenter.

after four years of anticipation

Coins dropped in the Seniors' fountain paid for student wish-making.

Excitement has been the key note in the history of the Class of 1968. Beginning with their first dance, "Spring Highlights," success has accompanied their every undertaking. In their Freshman year they introduced the new idea of service day and repeated this event until their Senior year.

The Sophomore year brought forth class rings, a first place float, "Dumbo flies with the Pioneers," and the new innovation of band concerts. The Squires were the featured attraction.

The Junior year saw the production of Pygmalion and a Junior class dance, "IT," to raise money for the prom, "Moonlight and Roses." Class spirit was exhibited by winning first place in the yell contest.

The Senior year proved by far the best. Sectionals and Homecoming had special meaning since they were to be the last. They had seen the introduction of the spirit stick and the victory bell. The Senior class dance featured the ideal seniors, and the theme, "Love is Blue."

With "Love is Blue" as the theme, the Senior class dance featured the announcement of the Ideal Seniors.

Homecoming float and class play prepare

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS AND SPONSORS—J. Justak, Mr. Majcher, C. Gaspar, G. Halik, S. Murphree, Mrs. Snider.

Starting the year early, the Class of '69 broke the summer routine by presenting a dance, "Charlie Brown in Wonderland," featuring the ten foot rabbit, "Tibbar."

On entering their third year as Clarkites, Juniors elected class officers. Once again leading the class was Spike Murphree as president. Vice president George Halik assisted him, while Cindy Gaspar served as secretary. Jeff Justak handled the finances.

During the month of November, members of the class were kept busy working on the class play, Pure as the Driven Snow, or a Working Girl's Secret, featuring short acts during intermission.

Ending the year in a French atmosphere, the Junior class prom, "Longer Than Always," brought Paris to the Shoreland Hotel. With the close of prom night Juniors began looking ahead to the soon approaching Senior year.

Sophs lose their "green" status

The Class of 1970 started the year with a first place award for the Homecoming class float, "Trap 'em with Eze". Yvonne Modjeski represented the sophomore class in the Homecoming Queen's court.

The first task of the year was the election of officers. The president of the Class of '70 was Mark Janas, with Liz Herakovich serving as vice president. Yvonne Modjeski and Joan Bangert served as secretary and treasurer respectively. Later in the year, Sophomores proudly displayed their new class rings.

The class dance, which was held in November, proved to be the major money-making project. All profits went to the fund which will be used to finance next year's prom. Having completed an eventful year, members of the Class of '70 prepared for their future as upperclassmen.

Sophs' Homecoming float won the first place blue ribbon.

Frosh hurdle the challenge of first year

Beginning their first year as Clarkites, members of the Class of 1971 launched their initial activity by creating a Homecoming float, "Cage the Wildcats." Representing her class in the Queen's Court, Chris Etter held the honor of Freshman Attendant. The Frosh employed their initiative in joining the activities.

With the election of officers in December, the Frosh became a true part of Clark's family. Heading the class was Roger Schwartz as president, while Lorraine Wisemiller held the office of vice-president. Minutes were recorded by Diane Jones, while Peggy Golding handled the finances.

This year's Freshman class dance, "Shades of Green," marked a successful peak for the class' accomplishments.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE

An opportunity to serve awaits industrious young men and women at Northern Indiana Public Service Company. As one of the top gas and electric distribution utilities in the United States, NIPSCO is constantly looking for new processes and methods of efficient operation. These include atomic power generation, extra high voltage transmission, underground electric distribution, computerized system planning, underground storage of natural gas, community analyses and electronic data processing.

Ready to grow with a growing company?

IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF GROWTH

NIPSCO is one of the highest-paying utilities in the State of Indiana. Its attractive employee benefit package—tuition refund plan, vacations, holidays, life insurance, comprehensive medical insurance, pensions, etc.—provides an atmosphere for individual growth. Fifteen leading colleges and universities are strategically located throughout its service area with others available in the greater Chicago area. Drop in. We'll be glad to talk jobs with you.

High School is a waste of time . . .

... unless you find a job that turns you on and makes good use of your education. Inland Steel wants only people who want to use everything they've learned in high school—and strongly desire to grow personally and in their chosen field.

Inland's future growth depends on the creativity and productivity of its people. If you want a really challenging opportunity to contribute—with the rewards and responsibilities that go with it—Inland wants to talk to you.

We need action-seeking graduates for opportunities in clerical . . . production . . . technical . . . and craft apprenticeship areas.

Think it over. If you have high aspirations and a good high school record, take time to find out about a career with us.

We've shown the Switch and changed our Routine

New and exciting experiences were confronted while working on the 1968 Powder Horn. While presenting the changes in Clarkites, and in the school itself, 1968 has proved to be also for us A Switch From Routine.

Elation and sadness were simultaneously experienced. Those final hurried hours of writing, cropping, and assembling will never be forgotten. Endless hours of work by staff members, and many others not even on the staff, helped create the book. A special thank-you is due for Mr. George Muir and Mr. Frank Woschitz for their constant patience and guidance. The measure of the time and effort spent by these people merits unceasing gratitude.

By portraying the change of a Clarkite, we too have undergone a change. Through the acceptance of responsibility we have grown and matured as individuals. We hope that we have succeeded in showing you this year's Switch From Routine.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the cultural context of the research. It highlights the need for researchers to be sensitive to the values and beliefs of the communities they are studying. This is particularly important in the field of education, where cultural differences can significantly impact learning outcomes. The author argues that a one-size-fits-all approach to education is not only ineffective but also potentially harmful. Instead, educators should strive to create a culturally responsive environment that respects and builds upon the knowledge and experiences of all students.

The second part of the paper explores the challenges of conducting research in diverse cultural settings. It discusses the difficulties of finding a common ground between the researcher's perspective and the participants' worldview. The author notes that language barriers, differing communication styles, and varying levels of literacy can all pose significant obstacles. To overcome these challenges, the author suggests a collaborative approach where researchers work closely with community members to design and implement the study. This approach not only helps to build trust but also ensures that the research is relevant and meaningful to the community.

The third part of the paper presents a case study of a research project conducted in a rural, low-income community. The study aimed to understand the factors that influence children's school attendance and academic performance. The researchers found that cultural beliefs about education, as well as economic constraints, were major factors. For example, some parents believed that children should be working to help support the family, which often took precedence over school attendance. The researchers also found that the quality of the school facilities and the availability of resources were significant barriers to learning.

The final part of the paper discusses the implications of the findings for educational policy and practice. The author argues that policymakers should take a more holistic view of education, one that considers the social and cultural context of the learners. This might involve investing in community-based programs that address the needs of the whole child, rather than focusing solely on academic achievement. Additionally, the author suggests that teacher training should include components that focus on cultural competence and the ability to work effectively with diverse populations. By taking these steps, the educational system can better serve all students and promote a more equitable and inclusive society.

the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million (1990–1999) (Department of Health 2000).

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the quality of care in the public sector. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a number of key objectives for the public sector, including the need to improve the quality of care, to reduce the waiting time for treatment, and to improve the efficiency of the public sector.
